Going beyond the Texts, Literacy for Expression

Essential Question (to help guide your thinking): How do certain themes develop importance for a certain group of people?

Choose a theme from the film or doc you reviewed and discuss how the theme is used and what Indigenous groups commonly incorporates that theme into their traditions? Be sure to include a thoughtful theme statement, remember a theme is bigger than one idea or the film you reviewed, it is a commentary on life.
What connections can you make to this theme from your own life?

Why do you think it is important to repeat this theme?
Discuss two themes t	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.
Discuss two themes f	from something yo	ou have watch	ed, listened to	or read recently.

What do you Have to Say?

Choose a theme from your own lived experience and discuss why it would be important to repeat this theme.

- Communicate your insight into this topic in a well-developed response of at least 300 words, using proper writing conventions and MLA guidelines for any reference to your research
- You may respond creatively or critically, using any written format.
- Methods of development may include narration, exposition, persuasion, description or any combination of these.
- Your response should be sufficiently detailed to thoroughly demonstrate your thinking.